RECENT PROJECTS   *please see portfolio for detailed project history - andreatmyers.com

BugOut Bootcamp Survival Guide (Group Project)   March 15th, 2021

- This is an application built for students starting their coding journey. It was built to provide easy access to resources, note taking, job searches, and overall organization for the hectic bootcamp process.
- My responsibilities spanned across all parts of this project including design, authentication, database manipulation and implementing Google OAuth (in order to save/update/delete files from a user's Google Drive).
- Technologies: JavaScript, HTML/CSS, SASS, Material UI, Bootstrap, JSON, PostgreSQL, Shell, React/Redux, Node.js, Express, Passport, Sequelize, Google OAuth2, CodeMirror2

UVSafe (Individual Project)   February 25th, 2021

- The goal of this React project was to display UV Radiation levels for users based on their city and provide helpful information about sun exposure given different skin types.
- Two APIs were called to provide real-time UV levels for a user's city. Data was passed through state to make a consistent and responsive UI/UX.
- Technologies: React/Redux, JavaScript, HTML, CSS, Bootstrap, RESTful APIs

LayrFIVE (Group Project)   February 3rd, 2021

- LayrFive is a collaborative social development site for software engineers. A main feed of projects allows users to rate, comment, and connect with other developers through their Github account.
- The focus of this project was to develop a full stack application where users could login and data could be saved. My responsibilities included UX/UI design and JavaScript Logic.
- Technologies: Node.js, JavaScript, EJS, Sequelize, PostgreSQL, AWS, HTML/CSS, SASS, Bootstrap, Adobe Illustrator
